Digital Tachograph Driver Cards Renewals

We are now in the fifth year since the introduction of Digital Tachograph systems in commercial vehicles. Some of your employees' tachograph cards and maybe even your own may be coming up for renewal.

The DVLA will send reminders out approximately 12 weeks before a card expires. However, since the DVLA is not actually obliged to send out reminders, you should make your drivers familiar with the tachograph card renewal process.

As always there is a form—the D786B. This can be obtained through DVLA on 0300 790 6109 or from DVLA local offices and test stations. The form as well as the £19.00 renewal fee must reach DVLA at least 15 days before the expiry date of the current driver's card. For ease, DVLA are also accepting card renewal request on form D777B which is available from www.businesslink.gov.uk/transport.

Driver MUST NOT send their old card back to DVLA with the renewal forms, as they will need to keep using the old card up to the expiry date and then carry it with them for 28 days.

If new cards are not received before the old card expired, a driver cannot drive a vehicle that is subject to EU drivers' hours regulations.

Christmas 2010 Train - DCPC

We at TAC understand that it is hard to get training into a working year; with drivers on holiday, no one in the office etc...

This is why we are running DriverCPC dates over the quiet Christmas Period.
